BONFIELD SUSPENDED.

Chicago Police Officers Charged with Corruption Removed from Duty.

A Sea Captain's Cruelty Forces two Men to Desert on a Raft.

Tossed On the Open Sea in a Terrible Sleet Storm.

The Old Colony Picks the Men Up in a Frozen Condition.

[illegible] Suspended.

Chicago, February 6.—Inspector Bonfield, Captain [illegible] and [illegible] of the police officers whom the Chicago Times has been charging with corruption were tonight indefinitely suspended from the police force. The Times had charged that Lowenstein had been acting as a "fence" for stolen goods and that Bonfield and several others, while professing to be active against not only the gamblers but the most worthless men as well, were virtually in league with gamblers, saloon keepers, thieves and the disreputable. The first result of the charge was the filing of libel and divorce suits against the Times until the amount of damages asked from that paper is nearly $2,000,000.

The suspension order is signed by Mayor Roche, who begins it with a statement that the charges against the accused are made by a newspaper known to be recognized as the organ of a political party, and he disclaims any intention of determining by his action whether the accusations are true or not. The grand for suspension is stated to be precautionary. The courts having declined to expedite the trial of the case, suspension is ordered until ample time is given for judicial action and the charges disproven.

Frozen to Death.

New York, February 6.—The Fall River steamer, Old Colony, to-day brought in a sailor named Leander Kaldoon, badly frozen and the corpse of another man who Kaldoon knew only as "Bill." Kaldoon says he sailed from New York on the 9th inst. on the schooner J. F. Barnes, Captain McDonald for South Africa. After the voyage began the crew were treated most atrociously by the captain and mate, and resolved to make a raft from some planking and logs on the deck and desert at night.

Finding that they could not make a raft large enough to hold all of the sailors they decided to save eight men should escape. Kaldoon and "Bill" were the party and launched their raft at 11 o'clock last night. They expected to make the shore but the wind shifted and carried them out in the middle of the ocean. A heavy sleet storm was raging and they were washed overboard. At 2:30 the Old Colony picked them up. Restoratives were used and Kaldoon can now be talked to. Bill's body was found on the raft. Kaldoon is getting [illegible] Captain Hazelhurst who [illegible] and would do anything to save the life of a sailor.

Colorado Legislature.

SENATE.

DENVER, Colo., February 6.—The senate immediately after the opening of session took up and considered at great length S B No 136, a bill for an act to repeal the terms of the supreme court and to practice therein, and to put existing powers of the judges during recess.

At the conclusion of the debate the bill was referred to the judiciary committee.

Several other bills were considered in committee of the whole. Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The following bills passed the house today:

H B 65, a bill for an act to amend section 751 of the general statutes. The bill defines the crime of burglary and fixes the [illegible] punishment. Its distinct feature is that it prescribes that a person unlawfully inside of a house who shall pass from one room to another with intent to commit theft or other crime shall be guilty of burglary.

H B No 101, a bill for an act prescribing the limits of water district No. 2.

H B No 2, a bill for an act to submit to the people the question of calling a constitutional convention. Adjourned.

Mitchell's Resolution.

WASHINGTON, February 6.—The senate several days ago adopted a resolution offered by Senator Mitchell calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to the amounts in the sinking [illegible] Pacific railroad companies on February 1, 1889, under the operation of the Thurman sinking fund act. Also for a statement of the amount invested in bonds, the face value of the bonds purchased, their present market value and the difference between the amount of the sinking fund had it been uninvested at the government's investment. The report of the secretary was to-day laid before the senate. It makes the following statement: For government trans[illegible] on account of the act of May [illegible] 1887, $6,59[illegible]81, payments by the Pacific roads $1,421,714, making the total paid into the sinking fund, $7,774,495. The money was invested in United States [illegible] railroad first [illegible] Pacific. The market value of these bonds on February 1, 1889 was $9,[illegible]40, showing the increase by reason of investment [illegible] $1,[illegible]. From the Central Pacific $4,[illegible] was received and [illegible] the face value on February 1, 1889 of $4,821,785, making the increase by reason of investment [illegible].

Parnell Commission.

LONDON, February 6.—Parnell was present at the session of the commission to-day and held a lively conversation with Michael Davitt. Beach who is known as Dr Lacaron continued his evidence. He denied the correspondence which he had with Alexander Sullivan, but admitted the receipt of a letter from the secretary of the Clan-na-Gael, which suggested that the Irish [illegible] should be declared [illegible] there was a change of representatives on the side of the water which would be very much [illegible] Sullivan, referring to a visit to Ireland which he contemplated.

NEW UNION DEPOT.

Rumored Line Running into Pueblo to Build a Handsome Depot.

The New Structure to be Erected Once at a Cost of $200,000.

Progress on the Great Boneyard Durant Mining Suit at Denver.

Witnesses who Failed to Show Reasons for their Conclusions.

Union Depot at Pueblo.

DENVER, February 6.—An important [illegible] was [illegible] in the offices of [illegible] Pueblo was sold this afternoon at auction. Those present were General Manager Meek of the Ft Worth, General Manager F Smith of the Rio Grande, President R R Cable, of the Rock Island, Vice President Clark, of the Missouri Pacific and Gifford Manager Robinson of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. The object of the meeting was to hold a conference regarding the new union depot at Pueblo, which these companies propose to erect. At the conclusion of the meeting it was announced that they had adopted plans and that work would be begun immediately. The structure will be red sand stone and cost between $200,000 and $300,000.

Boneyard Durant.

DENVER, February 6.—In the Boneyard Durant mining suit municipal court headway was made to-day. Five witnesses for the Durant were examined. The first was Mr D Bodes who maintained the position of the Durant company fairly well. Mr. A F Bardwell proved quite a strong witness and his testimony received close attention from the jury. Phillip W Pratt, the discoverer of the Spar and Durant, mines succeeded Mr. Bardwell. In direct examination he was very positive but upon cross examination he weakened the cause of the Durant by declaring its model and sectional views as erroneous.

Messrs J W Robinson and John Fellows both testified to the sliding down of the Bonneyhel ore but failed to explain satisfactorily the cause of the sliding or the reasons for their conclusions. On the whole the Durant did not make any headway to-day and the situation remains unchanged from what it was reported yesterday. Mr. Taylor, attorney for the Durant, was not in attendance to-day, neither was Mr. Hanson, and the Durant side was conducted by Mr Hayes alone.

Fiftieth Congress.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, February 6.—In the senate to-day [illegible] on the Red House patch to enlarge the right of way across the Fort Custer military reservation in Montana was passed.

The resolution heretofore offered by Chandler instructing the committee on appropriations to investigate the matter of naval officers' pay was taken up.

After a long debate the resolution went over with other unfinished business and judicial appropriation bill was taken up but the senate adjourned without taking action on it.

The pending question was the amendment to increase the clerical force of the Civil service commission.

A long and interesting discussion which turned principally upon the administration of the postoffice department was carried on by Cockrell, Aiken, Vest and Stewart. Then Daniel attacked the civil service system itself as being un-American, unrepublican and undemocratic. While he regretted the defeat of the ex-first administration he felt there would be some consolation in it if the incoming administration should manifest a disposition from the modern machine system of appointments. He hoped it would lead the government back to the old principle by which the people were recognized as having a right to share the nation's offices. If the republican party would go about it sincerely and help to rid the country of that humbug he would pledge that at least one democratic vote would assist them in doing it.

HOUSE.

Consideration of the conference report on the Nicaragua canal bill was resumed it being agreed that the debate should close at 5 o'clock.

Nelson, of Minnesota, opposed the conference report.

Chipman, of Michigan, said he favored the bill as it came from the senate. He did not favor it with the house amendments which had been placed upon it because they emasculated it. They had been incorporated on the 5th inst at the United States should be free from entangling alliances and that it should isolate itself. The day for isolation had passed. Voices from all parts of the world were warning the United States of this. Voices from the Isthmus from Canada, from Samoa, and from whose ever foreign nations had planted their flags. An unsigned [illegible] American enterprises to place itself in foreign countries was too late. We are," continued Nelson, "entering our flag into the ocean of Central America we are carrying it with the endorsement of the people of the country. We have put ourselves where though we may be constantly liable we shall be morally responsible for the safety and protection of a great American enterprise which will help to extend our country's fame over the world. I for one, hope this step is only a prelude to the day when we as a people, will plant our feet in those regions and when our flag shall wave over the states of Nicaragua as a state of the United States of America." [illegible]

Terms Accepted.

BROOKLYN, February 6.—The strikers last night accepted Deacon Richardson's terms. They signed the agreement in which a willingness is expressed to return to work only as individuals and to ask their places as nearly as possible as they were in before the commencement of the strike. The document also stipulates that recently engaged men shall have precedence over the old employes and declares the strike fully and entirely off.

Porter did not Sail.

BALTIMORE, February 6.—A gentleman who has been here for the past two days told a reporter to-day that he was. Major David E Porter, whose departure from New York for Hayti to take command of Legitimes forces was announced a few days ago. Porter says that his agreement with Minister Preston was broken off by a misunderstanding but that a new agreement had been made and that he now thinks that the [illegible] will be carried out.

The News Comment.

LONDON, February 6.—The Daily News commenting on the Samoan situation says that "Prince Bismarck has done good by his allusions to Great Britain and the good feeling way and that Count Herbert Bismarck's sentiments are friendly. Russia for America is inadequate to reconcile the English or the American press. The policy of subservience to Germany is one the News says which procures neither a triumph of diplomatic skill nor a solace to the national pride.

Don't Go Three Miles Out in the Country for Lots, where you can get them for the Same Money in PARRISH'S ADDITION!

Only 3 Blocks from Cascade Avenue!

Only 3 Blocks from The Antlers Hotel!

Only 4½ Blocks from Post Office!

THE STREETS IN PARRISH'S ADDITION

Are 100 to 110 feet in width. THE ALLEYS are all 20 feet wide. There are no 60 or 80 feet streets, and narrow, 10 feet alleys, such as are found in other locally advertised "Additions," with high sounding titles, where you pay high prices for lots, without duly considering that you are throwing away your money.

In the Alley Behind Every Lot in Parrish's Addition

There is a 8-inch Water Pipe, connected at Chestnut street with a 16-inch main, the Largest in the City's System. THE MAIN CITY DITCH, taking pure, clear water from the Fountain runs just back of PARRISH'S ADDITION, and within a stone's throw of it.

YOU ARE SURE TO GET WATER

(Both from Pipes and Ditch) in PARRISH'S ADDITION if there is any water in the Fountain, even if other parts of the city are suffering from scarcity of the precious fluid.

REMEMBER THE FOREGOING, and then, when I tell you I will sell you a First-Class

Lot in Parrish's Addition for $350

To $1,000—a full size lot, 50 by 100 feet—do not hesitate a moment about buying. You can buy two lots on a corner, and erect pretty little cottages across them, giving each cottage a neat, pretty little yard, and readily rent them, owing to the location, etc.

To Pay You 25 to 35 Per Cent Per Annum on the Entire Investment.

WHERE CAN YOU DO THIS ELSEWHERE?

ELSIE W. CHAMBERS,
County President, pro tem.

Robert Downing, who [illegible] in this city last spring was the dramatic event of the year, comes again next Monday night and will be greeted by one of the largest houses of the season. The Boston Herald has the following flattering notice of Mr. Downing and the play: The most important new feature of the dramatic season so far is undoubtedly the production of "The Gladiator," under the management of Mr. Joseph H. Mack, who was long connected with Col. J. H. Haverly's theatrical enterprises. Mr. Mack's right to the play from the estate of the [illegible] John McCullough, and immediately received letters of hearty congratulation from Col. Haverly and Capt. W. H. Connor, McCullough's manager. Then Mr. Robert Downing was engaged to take the part of Spartacus. He is a large, handsome man of robust physique, 38 years old, and an actor of pronounced talent. He has stood side by side with Booth, Forrest, Edwin, Joseph Jefferson and Mary Anderson, being leading support of the last-named until her departure for Europe. The handsome young tragedian as Spartacus, the hero of Dr. Bird's [illegible] play, is seen in the best character of his [illegible] production that has ever been seen in this country aside from the memorable productions of [illegible] seen at Booth's theatre, New York, several years ago, or later at the dramatic festivals at Cincinnati. The play is superbly staged, careful attention being paid to spectacular effect and historical accuracy, and is mounted on a scale of magnificence, paralleling the memorable productions of Henry Irving and Robson & Crane. There is not, perhaps, in the long list of standard plays one which offers the [illegible] field for scenic effect that does The Gladiator, and the celebrated artist Voegtlen, who painted all the scenery for the production, was given carte blanche by Manager Mack to produce it in the most [illegible] manner and with every possible regard to its accuracy and correctness from an historical point. Among some of the notable scenes of the play will be the streets of Rome with their triumphal arches, the battle fields of Capua, the Bay of Naples with Mt. Vesuvius in the distance in process of eruption, the monster waterfall of Dracco's dream, and the grand arena scene which is an exact reproduction of Gerome's celebrated historical painting.

About ten years ago Mr. Frank Flanigan owned a tract of land on the north side of the Manitou road, near the city. He sold a portion of it to the Catholic church of this city for a cemetery, which was accepted and used for that purpose by the society. Later Mr. Flanigan sold the land, giving a deed to the whole tract, but with a verbal reservation of the portion on which the cemetery stands. A year or two ago one Henry I. Williams, who will be remembered as the head of the Williamette [illegible] which caused a great deal of excitement in this city and Denver a few years ago, purchased a portion of the land. He now claims the cemetery property as a portion of the tract which was transferred to him. On [illegible] D. W. Walsh and Father [illegible] Montgarrith filed an injunction in the district court, through their attorney, Judge Harrison, restraining Williams from taking possession of the property.

There was a very large audience in Lowe's opera house last night to witness the performance of J. S. Murphy's new play, Shaun Rhue. [illegible] was taken and many ladies were present. Even the four boxes were filled which is something very unusual. The large audience had gone there to be amused and was in a good natured and [illegible] mood to make [illegible] over the [illegible] delineations. Murphy has a fresh, [illegible] voice and [illegible] brogue, and his play, Shaun Rhue, was a little gem which he [illegible] stuck to if he wishes to preserve his reputation. He has won fame and fortune in it and a dozen plays like "Shaun Rhue" will not obliterate it from the memory of the [illegible] "Shaun Rhue" is the typical Irish [illegible] with the [illegible] [illegible]

The first issue of the governor's Grand Gazette has been found. The paper is a neat little eight page publication, devoted to the interests of the State National guard. It is printed in Denver and is under the editorial management of Mr. Burt E. Cumberham who is assisted by Messrs. E. E. Hickey and L. A. Richards.

Prohibitionists have always claimed that local option was a hindrance rather than a help to the temperance movement. Their orators and organs during the late [illegible] point of this and yet among the signers of the petition to the Nebraska legislature praying against the repeal of the local option law appears the name of Clinton B. Fisk, late prohibition candidate for president.

The New York Post gives a little biographical sketch of Mrs. Esther H. Whichler, who died recently in Connecticut, at the age of eighty three. She was one of the early abolitionists. In 1840 she was forced to leave the Second Congregational church of New London, because of her abolition sentiments. She was contemptuously dismissed, to return when her anti slavery sentiments should be abated. This hardly seems like modern New England church history.

Congressman Butterworth's very manly speech regarding trades unions, he said: "There is only one way to bring general prosperity; grant the largest liberty to a man to fight the battle of life as best he can, untrammelled by a system which prevents him from making the best terms for his labor or his merchandise." This is very well stated and is hardly what one would expect from so strong a protectionist as Mr. Butterworth. What he says is eminently true regarding all the artificial barriers made to control commerce or wages.

The following bill was presented to the senate by Senator Nolte and has passed to a third reading.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

That section 2283 (13) of chapter LXIV. of the general statutes of the state of Colorado, entitled "Penalty for selling liquor without license," be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows: 2283 Sec. 13. Every person not having a legal license to keep a saloon or grocery, who shall barter, sell, exchange, or otherwise dispose of, for his gain or benefit, any malt, vinous spirituous or mixed liquors, or shall permit the same to be done on his or her premises for his or her benefit or gain, shall forfeit and pay the sum of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense, together with costs of suit.

This bill was presented by county commissioners, now it will do something toward opening the routing of small gin mills on the outskirts of the county.

The Capital published at Washington says that Mary E. Clay, of the Woman's Suffrage convention on Wednesday, laid down the platform of the woman suffragists in one sentence: "Wifehood and motherhood are her office states in the true woman's life. Her chief end is citizenship." If the issue is presented in this way, woman's suffrage won't find very much support. If it is argued that it is only fairness to give woman the ballot, and that if she is allowed to vote, she will vote on the right side of moral questions the arguments will be strong ones. But it will not be considered that citizenship is the highest state and the duties of home the inferior. It is building the wrong way. Good laws will not necessarily make good and happy homes but good and happy homes will educate public sentiment so that there must be good laws. If woman is to consider her place in the home as inferior to the exercise of the rights of citizenship, no wise patriot would care to see the right of suffrage given to her.

The number of war vessels that Germany would be able to gather in Samoan waters at short notice is a matter of some interest at present. A very recent report states that altogether there are but five German men of war in Pacific waters. They are the Olga and the Adler which are at Samoa, the Eber which is at present on the way to Australia and two other vessels which have been on the Asiatic coast but are believed now to be sailing under orders to join the fleet at Samoa. The largest of these ships is the Olga, an unarmored corvette carrying ten 6 cm breech loading four ton Krupp guns. The Adler carries four small Krupp guns and the Eber three. The Adler and Eber like the Olga are unarmored. The two vessels on the Asiatic coast are both screw sail and carry together seven 15 inch guns. The entire force on board these five vessels will aggregate about six hundred men. Our available ships are the Nipsic, Trenton, Vandalia, Omaha and Dolphin. The Nipsic carries six guns, the Trenton ten, the Vandalia ten and the Omaha twelve. The Dolphin has but one gun but it is probably the most effective in either fleet. The Nipsic [illegible] Samoa for some time and the Trenton and Vandalia [illegible] have also been ordered to report at Apia. The Omaha has been at Shanghai and was lately ordered to prepare for sea. The Adams which has just recently been at Samoa is undergoing repairs at Mare Island. It has a new gun and could sail at short notice. By March the Iroquois and Charleston now building at Mare Island would be ready for service. But even without the latter two we would have the advantage of Germany in the matter of both men and guns.

The Late Crown Prince.

Rudolf Franz Carl Joseph, crown prince of Austria and prince royal of Hungary and Bohemia, who died suddenly yesterday at Baden, ten miles from Vienna, was born August 21, 1858. He was the second child of his parents Elizabeth, Gisela, the wife of Prince Leopold regent of Bavaria having been born in July, 1856. On the 24th of June, 1872, he was officially proclaimed to be of age, an event which was preceded by great national rejoicings, and a new era in public celebrations of various kinds. He has assisted his father in much of the routine business of state. He entered the Austrian army on the 22d of July 1878 and in September, 1880 with the rapidity of promotion peculiar to princes of royal blood, became a major general. At the same time he was appointed to the rank of a vice admiral in the navy. In addition to these commissions he held a great number of complimentary and honorary appointments, a fine collection of which represents in his own mind no small [illegible]. It was not, however, for his military capacity that he was best known to the general public, being a man of very different general disposition from the present German emperor, who is exactly twenty years younger than he was. From his earliest days his serious inclinations were in the direction of science and literature, while in his periods of relaxation he devoted himself with great energy to sports of all kinds, especially hunting and shooting.

Like all Austrian princes, he received an excellent education and is said to have displayed especial aptitude for languages, acquiring new tongues in his leisure hours with great facility. A gift of small value to a prince who keeps a private secretary to write all his letters for him, and who has at his command the services of a corps of diplomatists, but a very useful accomplishment for a man who has to travel much in his own dominions as the heir to the throne of Austria. His devotion to [illegible] studies may have been the reason in part of [illegible] which in some years created some anxiety concerning his health during his earlier years, but upon reaching manhood he displayed vigor, activity and energy, although his constitution was still not robust. His death, which was sudden and unexpected, has created all manner of theories and speculations as to the cause of it, and is the subject of comment and [illegible] throughout Europe. The official announcement of the death, without any kind of [illegible] was [illegible] in the following words:
